

Edgar J. Fenzl | M.D., Ph.D.

Edgar Fenzl is a trained scientist and physician gaining a doctorate in pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics as well as a medical degree. Dr Fenzl's experience embraces more than 30 years of pharmaceutical research. He has worked in a number of pharmaceutical companies as well as clinical research organizations, where he held positions with increasing responsibilities starting as chief physician, followed by head of clinical research units, and ultimately serving as managing director. Dr Fenzl has overseen a large number of national and international clinical studies. He has supervised and managed phase I to IV clinical studies in a wide range of therapeutic areas including pharmacokinetics, gastrointestinal pharmacology, cardiovascular pharmacology, dermatology, oncology, pain, migraine, CNS drugs, immunology, infectious diseases, and medical devices, as well as studies for OTC products.

As head of clinical research for a number of companies he has supervised project leaders and medical advisors, and acted as the Sponsors responsible officer for drug safety and regulatory issues. He has extensive experience in company organization and management, including company restructuring ("reengineering") and financial planning. He has successfully initiated and completed programs to improve the efficiency, quality, and management of clinical research. His current focus is on providing personal client services as a Qualified Person for Pharmacovigilance and consulting services on drug development and regulatory strategies. Currently, he is Managing Director of FGK Clinical Research GmbH and FGK Representative Service GmbH, and serves as a Director at FGK Clinical Research Limited.
